

DANIELSON AND PUTNAM NEWS

DANIELSON

Rosario Bassett, who was injured at Goodyear, was reported Monday at the Day Kimball hospital to be resting comfortably, although his condition is serious.

Martin F. Burns, who recently purchased a house of Mrs. Esther Jacobs, on Academy street, will occupy it this week with his family.

The body of George Saunders, who died in Hartford, was interred Monday in Evergreen cemetery at Central Village. Mr. Saunders was a resident of Danielson for many years.

A funeral service for Leo Abdallah, infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Abdallah, was conducted Monday morning at St. James' church by Rev. John Roux, M. S. Burial was in Holy cross cemetery. The bearers were, Gilbert Pelerin, Adolphe Lemieux, Joseph Bishop and Henry Mondor. L. E. Kennedy was the funeral director.

Edward Lyman showed one of the prize trout of the season—weight two and a quarter pounds—taken from a brook not distant from Danielson. The trout fishermen have reported exceptionally good luck so far this season.

Benjamin Weisberg, who is engaged in business in New York, was a visitor here Monday with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. Weisberg.

Monday there were only five prisoners at Brooklyn jail, and this is two more than were held there a few days ago. Three prisoners in the low record established at the jail during the past few weeks, and this is the record for all time since the jail was established.

It was authoritatively stated Monday that the Dexter property, so-called, on Broad street, has not been sold. Judge A. G. Bill, who has represented interests of the estate for some time past, declared Monday that no decision has been arrived at as to the property, which last week was reported as sold to H. B. Sweeney.

The opening dance of the season at Camp Whippoorwill, near Old Killingly pond, was the most successful held there for a long time, and attracted patrons from all of the surrounding country.

A number of Danielson people attended the K. of C. hall at Putnam Men's evening and others from this place were at Moosup to attend an Easter Monday concert and ball.

Mills continue to get plenty of power from the streams which they depend on to operate machinery of the plants. Rivers in Danielson continue to flow at high spring levels, allowing the manufacturing companies to reduce coal consumption at the plants.

The annual run of that spring fish which many sportsmen take enjoyment in going after on spearing expeditions—the sucker—is now on and almost nightly torch parties may be seen along the streams, after a mess.

All efforts to find the meator that seemed to shoot down out of the sky directly west of Danielson Saturday evening have proved futile. The visitor from the skies left what appeared to be a trail of smoke in the route it cut through the sky.

The extreme difficulty that rabbits and other game had in sustaining life in this section during the cold weather of January, February and the early part of March is indicated to observers who have been out through the woods and fields lately. While areas where the brush has been gnawed clean of bark shows how the rabbits and other such game were put to it to get something to eat during the snow and ice period. There are places beside the highways and in fields near them where every clump of brush has been stripped clean of bark from a foot above the ground to a height of about twenty inches.

Motorists who were out for Sunday tours tell of finding the highways in Connecticut, Massachusetts and Rhode Island in fairly good condition, except for an occasional place where they have been broken through and offer difficulties for the man who would drive his car through them. Recent rains have helped dispose of the frost and have settled the roads.

High prices for fertilizer are another cause of worry for farmers in this section this spring. There was an effort being made there Monday, it was stated, to get the farmers to engage in group buying, so as to obtain lower rates than could be obtained by an individual buying for his individual farm needs.

Victor A. Blackmer, of Belcherston, Mass., will come here April 19 to succeed John I. Lusk as principal of the Danielson school. Principal Lusk is to become the paying officer at the Danielson Trust company. Mr. Blackmer is a graduate of the Fitchburg Normal School and has been teaching for several years. He will resign as principal of a graded school at Belcherston to come to Danielson.

Post office officials again are in a quandary to locate the person to whom belongs a little metal folding seat, with carpet covering, as the package, undoubtedly intended for Danielson, is without markings or address to help identify the consignee. The seat, it is likely, came out of a large package, which may have had an address upon it.

The route to East Killingly is one on which the highway was quite bad, and was up during the winter months, and at the present time travelers complain of one very bad place in that section known as the Valley district. The route over which there is very considerable travel and one that needs to be at least in average good condition.

The public is interested in and will avail itself of the opportunity Wednesday evening to be present at the open house session arranged by Leo J. L'Homme post, American Legion, at their new quarters in the Brooklyn Savings bank building. The committee in charge of the arrangements has prepared a programme that will prove not only very interesting but as well very entertaining.

The Lorn Elwyn Stock company, which played to capacity business here a few weeks ago, opened a return engagement at the Orpheum theatre Monday, playing matinee and evening. The company was very well received.

Early development of good pasture is being urged by many owners of herds in Killingly and surrounding towns, where there is such a shortage of hay that there is danger of many calves being lost on short rations. This condition is a result of the farm labor shortage of last year, when farmers could not get enough men for haying and hundreds of tons went to waste in the fields.

Voters at the annual borough meeting will be asked to consider increasing the appropriation made at a special meeting recently for the purchase of a new water pump. The proposed increase of water rates by the Crystal Water company before the Public Utilities commission. The amount, it was stated, that time was $1,000, warned against beforehand as too small an amount for the need to be met.

PUTNAM

Some of Putnam's carpenters did not report for work Monday morning, because their demand for $1 an hour or $8 a day, had not been granted by the contractors. Until recently the men have been receiving 75 cents an hour, or $6 a day. When the demand for $1 was filed with the contractors they made a counter-proposal that the men accept $1.20 cents an hour, or $9.60 a day. This some of the men decided to do and did not report for work Monday.

Talk of dissatisfaction among some of the carpenters over the 75 cents an hour rate has been heard for some time. Those who have wanted the higher rate have pointed to the fact that $1 an hour is being paid carpenters in many cities, and say that the carpenters here are entitled to as much as is being paid men in their trade in other cities.

The contractors, as a whole, have felt that the $1 an hour rate was too high, but rather than have some time off offered to split the difference and make the rate $1.20. There was a feeling here Monday afternoon that the difficulty may be adjusted today.

Carpenters who did not report for work Monday held a meeting Monday evening to discuss the situation. Some carpenters in the city remained at work during Monday, accepting the $1.20 cents an hour rate.

Cargill council K. of C. gave an annual Easter Monday ball in Union hall last evening and, as usual, the affair was one of the big social events of the spring season, as it was the first post-Lenten dance. Knights and their ladies came from all the surrounding towns and a number of different councils were represented.

Music was by Hoy's orchestra of Whiteville, a band of musicians who gave the utmost satisfaction.

The hall was very prettily decorated, emblems of the order being conspicuously displayed along with the national colors, which predominated in the effective plan that had been worked out.

Judge George E. Hinman filed with the clerk of the superior court here on Monday a memorandum deciding the matter of the motion to set aside the verdict in the case of George Jordan, Adm., vs. Charles Combs, tried in the superior court here some time ago. Judge Hinman denies the motion to set aside the verdict for the plaintiff to recover damages of $600. The case was one which attracted considerable attention in Windham county and grew out of the death of M. F. Jordan, of Danielson, who died as the result of being struck by an automobile owned by the defendant, Charles Combs, of the town of Plainfield. In closing his review of these considerations I cannot regard the verdict as so against the weight of evidence as to warrant setting it aside. The motion is denied.

The funeral of Hannah Neidhardt, 74, who died suddenly of heart trouble at her home on Woodstock avenue, Friday, was held Monday morning with services at St. Mary's church, Rev. Charles F. Edard being celebrant of the religious mass. Burial was in St. Mary's cemetery.

A funeral service for Mrs. Julia D. Baldwin, wife of J. S. Baldwin, was held at her home here Monday, Rev. Byron Merrill of the Second Congregational church officiating. The body was taken for burial to Brooklyn, where Mrs. Baldwin was born on June 2, 1850.

District Deputy Edward Mullan, of the Knights of Columbus in this territory, will be kept busy with conferring of degrees during the spring season, it is indicated. Mr. Mullan will confer the third degree on a class of candidates here April 18. April 25 he expects to confer the fifth degree, where a class of 50 is awaiting a degree and the newly formed d. St. Bernard council at North Grosvenordale has a class of 24 to receive the degree. The councils in Danielson, Moosup and Wauregan continue to show much activity with promise of additional classes later.

Alfred E. Gild, well known in this section as a nurse, was reported Monday as ill at St. Joseph's hospital in Wallingford.

Members of the town school committee held a meeting Monday evening. Among the matters discussed was that of adopting a system of caring for the teeth of children in the public schools.

Miss L. Lorena Gallant is spending a week with friends in different towns in northern Vermont and over the border in Canada.

Prospects are for a slim amount of business for the criminal term of court for Windham county. Only one man is held at Brooklyn jail for the coming term of court. Some others are out under bonds, but the number altogether is not large.

Easton, Conn., is not the only section of southern New England that is having trouble with state highways broken down chiefly by heavy truck traffic. From Boston, Mass., come similar stories and suggestions for regulating this destructive traffic.

All Putnam schools were in session Monday, following the Easter recess. Physicians here say that influenza has practically disappeared from this section, though damp weather is causing many to catch colds.

Deputy Sheriff George F. Holbrook, who has been ill for several months, remains in an unchanged condition at his home on South Main street.

Captain J. H. Bulger is in line to share in the special rewards according to officers who had a part in locating a number of stolen automobiles here.

The honor students of the class of 1920 Putnam High School, were announced Monday at assembly. They are: Classical course, John Hogan; general course, Stanton Ballard; commercial course, Louis Rodinsky. This is the first time in a number of years that boys have taken the honors, for the past few years the girls having been the leading students.

The Manhasett Manufacturing Co. is to give a dance and supper next Saturday evening at 8 o'clock in the newly completed mill to its employees. The invitations were presented last Saturday by the overseers, and is an appreciation of the services of the employees.

JEWETT CITY

The supervisor of the Red Cross workroom and the chairman of the wool committee wish to finish up the remaining work before hot weather. Seventy children's undershirts have been returned to the room unfinished and a few pounds of wool for sweaters and stockings. The workroom will be open Thursdays between two and four for people to take out work until this week.

William L'Houreur, who is located for a while in Montreal, spent Easter with his mother, Mrs. Victor L'Houreur, who has returned, after two weeks with her daughter, Mrs. John Gagnon in New London.

All set for Legion minstrel Thursday night. Tickets may be exchanged at Finn's store.

A number from here are planning to attend the important inter-church conference to be held at the First Baptist church in New London Wednesday. Every Protestant church in the county is expected to be represented at this conference which is open to anybody wishing to attend.

BRIEF STATE NEWS

Danbury.—Mr. and Mrs. Milton A. Wright, recently appointed by the selectmen as superintendent and matron of Broadview farm, took charge of the town institution Friday. They succeed Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Harkness, who have been at Broadview since April 1, 1914.

Wallingford.—Rev. Howard W. Benedict, a former chaplain of the house of representatives and who since service overseas with the Y. M. C. A. has had a pastorate in New Jersey, was assigned to the Wallingford church by the New York East conference last week.

Manchester.—William P. Emmard, formerly of Canada, is to take up his residence in Manchester. He is one of the few survivors of the famous Princess Pat regiment which went out from Canada in the first year of the war, 1900 strong. Only 12 survived. Emmard was wounded seven times.

COLUMBIA

Louis Hennequin, who was ill with pneumonia in St. Joseph's hospital, died Monday morning. His body was taken to North Adams Wednesday for burial in the family plot where his brother Emile is buried. The latter died a few years ago from an injury sustained while working on the town roads. Louis Hennequin was active in the local grand and for the past two years was a member of the order.

Some time ago George H. Chapin qualified as a superintendent in connection with the repainting and con-

E. E. Tucker, agent of the Tolland county farm bureau, was in town again Wednesday last, consulting with the farmers as to the proper care of their fruit trees to produce the best results.

C. L. Jones of Wallingford, who was in town last Wednesday with his automobile meat cart, got stalled in the soft ground near Raymond Clark's residence, breaking an axle in endeavoring to extricate the car. After repairs the car proceeded on its way, after a delay of four hours.

Frank Abbott, who has been living at Mrs. Abbott Little's home for some time, has secured work with an electrical company in Norwich and has gone there to live.

Frederick H. Avery of East Hartford was in town Friday inspecting his college on the farm which he has rented for a portion of the summer.

The annual meeting of the Columbia Burying Ground association was held Thursday afternoon at the town hall. Officers elected are: Alonzo A. Latham, president; Edw. P. Lyman, vice president; Fred A. Hunt, secretary and treasurer; Charles K. Hitchcock, Henry B. Hopkins, E. W. Winter, finance committee; James C. Utley, sexton.

The treasurer's report showed cash on hand last annual meeting, $15.95; receipts during the year, $68.85; total, $84.80; balance on hand, $11.50. Trust funds amounting to $1,150 have been donated to the society, the income of which is to be used for the care of seven specially designated plots, the unpaid portion of such income to be applied to the general care of the cemetery. During the past winter it has been difficult to make interments on account of the severity of the weather.

Easter Sunday there was a good attendance at the Congregational church service at the M. E. church, where Rev. Oliver E. Newton spoke from Revelations 1:17-18—the theme being Easter. Holy Communion was administered at the close. A special feature of the service was the singing of the primary classes, who gave an Easter carol at the offertory. Miss Jennie G. Perkins was organist. Potted plants, lilies, begonias and other spring flowers were arranged about the pulpit.

Rev. Mr. Newton announced before concluding the service that owing to the continued illness of Mrs. Newton at a sanatorium, he wished to be released from the pastorate this present conference year. Rev. Mr. Newton leaves this (Tuesday) morning to attend the New England Southern Conference at Plymouth, Mass.

The Sunday school gave a program of songs and recitations entitled, "New Life in the Sunday school room in place of the regular session. The
